PAUZA

PAUZA are the first electronic duo female from Cuba, Zahira Sánchez and Paula Fernández. The duo has re-interpreted the cultural current of house music by adding latin rhythms and cuban folklore to their style and music. Their musical and live technicalities sharpened with their ability to seamlessly cross genres whilst retaining their Cuban flare, has lead them to perform at important festivals such as EDC Mexico, Bahidora, Live Out and many others.

Among their singles, their hit song is "Carajil o", this collaboration comes with Yadira "La Real", who brings the perfect vocals to go with the essence of the cuban sounds. The cuban duo continues captivating the music industry throughout the continent with their single " Jungle Fever ", this time under a Deep House line and with spanish vocals, this track builds a panoramic of the typical environment filled with woods and cuban fields. PAUZA's latest release is their remix from Samins song "Heater". which takes you on a ride through original sounds of La Havana all the way to the beats of a nightclub.

This 2020, PAUZA has many more music to come, starting with a collaboration with Daniel, Me Estás Matando "Por Qué Tan Seria ", it's musical fusion inspired by Mambo which incorporates a timeless and delightfully uplifting Cuban sound that stays true to their root and essence. On the electronic music side, PAUZA has just released a new EP with Get Physical Berlin 's renowned music label. This EP is a perfect mix that evolves from their cubanfolklore and escence with electronic beats, mashing together the original house music with PAUZA's unique sound.

"Our music representshow we live everyday in Cuba; it is a lifestyle that we wanted to attribute a soundtrack to."- PAUZA
